Bob McMullin Wins Recognition In Music

Robert "Bob" McMullin, formerly of Raymond, but now of Edmonton, has won recognition in music in the east. The 27 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McMullin of Raymond, "Bob" has always been musical and when he was serving overseas with the R. C. A. F. he started composing sketches. The result was the "Rocky Mountain" suite which has impressed Sir Ernest MacMillan of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and the suite in three parts will go on the air over the CBC network March 16th. "Bob" is now playing with an Edmonton orchestra and doing arrangements.

The young musician started working on his sketches while stationed in England with the R.C.A.F. in May 1945. He completed the work about a month ago. The idea came to him during periods of homesickness when his thoughts wandered back to the Rockies.

On completion of his work Mr. McMullin sent it to a former air force comrade now in Toronto, Harold Cluff, his former sergeant, presented the sketches to Sir Ernest MacMillan. Within a week both Cluff and the Edmonton musician knew that McMullin's first attempt at composing which was done entirely during spare time was a success.

One night following a rehearsal of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra in Massey Hall, Sir Ernest instructed the orchestra to play part of the composition on their stands. On completion they were greatly pleased with it.

Of McMullin's composition Sir Ernest said, "His work is very neat, it is original, there are very few mistakes in the copying." The famed Canadian conductor is rewriting a portion of the beginning of the second part.

Mr. McMullin will be in Toronto during the presentations of his composition. He hopes to continue writing music and is now thinking of composing a symphony. His greatest ambition is to write music for the films.

Robert McMullin was born in Lewiston, Utah, and moved to Raymond at the age of four with his family. He received his education in Raymond. On graduation from High School, where his favorite subject was chemistry, he went to work as a laboratory assistant in the sugar beet factory.

PRESENT REVUE AT STAKE HOUSE

The Taylor Stake Relief Society Board of Magrath presented a "Variety Show" before a large audience in the Stake House, Raymond on Wednesday evening.

First part of the program consisted of songs, dances and legends of the Indian people which were presented in costume, and with special stage setting. This was colorful with painted tepee, pine trees and open fire. Gene Wheeler and L.B. Tamer featured the "Indian Love Call" in a vocal duet.

Next depicted were a variety of Spanish numbers. This also was presented in the colorful Spanish costume with solo and duet and assisted by the Magrath Male Chorus directed by Orson Bridge. Dances were featured.

In the latter part of the evening entertainment the clock was turned back to the time from 1900 until the present day. Songs and dances included "Kentucky Babe" by the chorus, "I Don't Want To Play in Your Yard", a duet in song and tap dance by Dawn Robinson and Ruth Koeler.

A vocal trio was given by Grant Crookston, Rulon Harker and Miss J. Bridge, the latter singing the bass. Nyal Fletcher's interpretation of a "Blind Date" with the assistance of "Miss" Harker was a humorous rendition of "She's Too Fat For Me". The Male chorus completed with two numbers "Evening Bells" and "Good Night." Total cast for the performance numbered over 50 participants. This program was sponsored by the Stake Budget Committee.

Jacks Win Over Cardston

Cardston's, cellar-dwelling Maple Leafs nearly upset the Southern Alberta Senior Men's Basketball docket Friday night in the Raymond Opera House. The Leafs dropped a 46-40 decision to the pace-setting Jacks but the Sugar City crew had to go into five minutes of overtime before emerging victors.

The Leafs had a wide majority of play in the first half, holding a convincing 22-8 lead. In the second half, the Jacks came to life to tie matters up and then roared through in the overtime session to chalk up their narrow victory.

Within five seconds of play left in regulation time, the Temple City quartet were leading 37-36 when Doral Stone sank a free toss to deadlock matters and force the game into overtime. In the extra heat the Jacks found the range for eight points while the Leafs picked up 2 points.

Rennie Mitchell, after snaring only two points in the first half, started to roll in the second half to net 14 points. Gordio Gregson and Bill Hanson sparked the Leafs with 13 points each, Gregson pacing the first-half offensive of the Leafs with 11 points.

The Jacks are hosts on Saturday night to the Calgary Detroit Bears in an exhibition tilt. The Bears edged the Jacks by one point in Calgary last week.

ROAD PLANS TALKED AT ENGINEERS' PARLEY

Plans for an extensive road improvement program in Alberta this year were talked over when 40 engineers from various parts of the province met in Edmonton recently.

The conference had been called by the public works department to enable the engineers to meet Alex Frame, new commissioner of highways and discuss common problems.

As the province is planning another $13,000,000 road improvement program this year, it was felt that much good would come out of a conference of this kind when conditions in all areas could be discussed with the district engineers and others.

Officials have told the Alberta Motor Association that it is the intention to advance the road program just as early as road conditions permit. Already six gravel crushing outfits are operating in the province preparing material for hard surfacing.

There will be no delays so far as the supplying of material is concerned and with good weather, work will be started earlier than usual.

HISTORY OF RAYMOND

By ELIZABETH KING

ARTHUR DAHL, TOWN COUNCILMAN FOR TWENTY YEARS

On the 19th day of March, 1902, Arthur Dahl, John Powelson, John Wall and Walter Jeffery loaded their few possessions on the train at Payson Utah and left for Raymond, Canada. On arriving in Stirling March 21st they discovered their train went on into Lethbridge for the night which left them with no place to go. They therefore spread their blankets on the ground and prepared for bed.

In Mr. Dahl's own words: "The sky was filled with the beautiful moon and stars, to our surprise in the morning we were lying under about three inches of snow as if it had come out of a clear sky without a cloud. On reaching Raymond as I stepped out of the car I met one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen, some two week previous to our coming to Raymond there had been a prairie fire sweeping over the country leaving everything looking as tho it was one beautiful lawn just nicely coming through. South over the ridge as far as the eye could see I shall never forget the sight. It has helped me to like the country better.

The next thing that drew my attention was the sound of hammering. The air was clear and the sound carried well. Buildings being constructed everywhere. The town was alive. This building stir went on night and day, long evenings, moonlight nights, seven days out of the week. You would hardly think it but on it went.

My home was the seventeenth to be built. Just a shack though, dirt floors and the canopy of heaven filled with natures lights. Much of a home was not really needed as my wife and family did not come until one month later.

Before unloading our cars we went up town to the land office and selected a lot. The town had been planned under the supervision of Bros. John W. Taylor and Will Knight so we had not trouble in selecting a suitable location. I brought my earthly possessions to this designated spot and planted them down, thus I started out on life's journey in Raymond, Canada.

As I came here with the intention and desire to make farming my occupation I set out to locate myself.

I had no trouble in finding what I wanted, as everything was sold on credit. I found myself just as rich as the other fellow. I went to the land office, store, bank, and machine shop and got what we called a credit account. I found myself in a new world as far as finance was concerned. So different from what I was used to in my Utah home. I could buy nothing there only what I could pay for. We were poor, my mother was a widow. I used to tell her we could make "Johe's Turkey" ashamed of himself.

Before I knew it I was so in debt it really scared me. My word had financed me to the extent of hundreds of dollars. In my sober moments I promised myself I would make good. I am still trying. This is one thing coming to Canada had done for me. Here I have had quite a degree of opportunities which have developed the attributes of thankfulness and gratitude. I received opportunities here which I never would have received had I remained in my little home town of Goshen Utah.

Mr. Dahl held many church and civic positions. He was one of the first school trustees, a position he held for a number of years. His wife Jeanette carried on when he was released. Mr. and Mrs. Dahl were school teachers before coming to Canada.

Mr. Dahl was also a member of the Town Council for upwards of 20 years. He was asked several times to run for Mayor but he declined. For years he was on the license and Police Committee. Arthur Dahl filled a mission to the Southern States soon after his marriage. He was very active as a teacher in some of the auxiliaries, especially the Sunday School and Priesthood. He was set apart February 13, 1909 as councillor to Bishop John F. Anderson, a position he held to 1912. He was a High Councilman for many years. He was also president of Religion classes.

In his now declining years he is an active and ardent Temple worker. His own words are as follows: "My Temple Work is the crowning incident of my life. I know more than ever before what my religion held for me. This life's goods are as nothing compared with my religion. How I do wish young people could see the importance of Temple marriage."

Old records reveal that on April 20, 1902 Arthur Dahl and wife were received, with their small family, as members of the Raymond ward and in less than eleven years the Dahl home sheltered thirteen children.

The Arthur Dahl family was a large one. There were six boys and two girls, Ronda, Oral, Paul, Fern, Rulon, David, Karl, and Lloyd. David passed away at the age of 13.

Arthur Dahl's brothers wife passed away and the next year his brother contracted pneumonia and on his death bed requested that the children be kept together and not separated. Arthur promised his brother his request should be granted an that he would take the children with him to Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Dahl, out of the kindness and sympathetic understanding of their hearts agreed to add to their already large family, five more mouths to feed, Eva Clifford, Frelen, Clara and Gertrude. These two families blended into one perfect whole. All shared equally, all were taught to work, to accept responsibility and to wait on themselves, thus when, after a time they were grown they naturally and easily fitted into community and church activities as leaders and as heads of the Y.M.C.A. both Stake and ward, of Relief Society, primary Sunday school and at present Rulon is Bishop of the new Raymond 3rd ward.

Ronda, Karl, Clifford and Frelen each filled a two year mission for their church in Eastern Canada and the United States.

Mrs. Dahl was counselor to Amy L. Allen in the Taylor Stake Primary and in 1920 was made president which position she held until her death in 1924.

A TRIBUTE

It was February 20th, 1913 that my two brothers, two sisters and myself came to Raymond to make our home. I shall never forget how I felt the night that we arrived. We found seven in Uncle Arthur's family making just an even dozen of us. Our ages were from four to twelve and when we compared ages with the others we found there were just five sets of twins.

We were made welcome and the two families seemed to fit together beautifully. When I was young I was asked a number of times if Arthur Dahl was my father or was I one of the children he brought from Utah. Many of the people in the town did not know which was which.

How well I remember how it was when ten of us attended public school. With so many children there must have been many worries but to me things seemed to go along smoothly. I have often marvelled how they managed to keep shoes, clothes and plenty to eat for so many. There was a lot of work to do but there were many hands to do it for we all helped. We had many fine times together for we never lacked for playmates. Some of the happiest times that I remember was spent on the farm. How we enjoyed the long summer evenings playing together.

I have always been so thankful to Uncle Arthur and Aunt Net for the wonderful home, the loving care and the good training that we were so fortunate in having.

Eva Salmon.

The Case for Seed Treatment

The kind of crop Western Canada is going to harvest in 1948 depends in no small measure on what kind of seed farmers plant this Spring. Farmers should not only be interested in the quality and purity of the seed they sow in 1948 but also in its freedom from disease.

Seed Treatment Needed. During the last few years Line Elevators Farm Service has examined thousands of farmers' seed samples of wheat, oats, barley and flax. These extensive seed tests have clearly indicated that a very large proportion of the seed-grain that is sown each year in Western Canada carries disease-producing organisms, or is damaged by weathering or threshing, in sufficient amount to make seed treatment positively necessary. Therefore, the best advice we can give to a farmer is this: "Take no chances! Unless you know your seed is undamaged and free of smut and other diseases, treat it."

Seed-Treating Methods. The seed disinfectants (fungicides) recommended for the control of surface-borne smut and other seed-borne diseases of wheat, oats and barley, and for the treatment of flax, are the organic mercury dusts (Ceresan, Loyosan, etc.). For small grain crops the rate of application is 1/2 ounce per bushel of seed; for flax, the rate is 1 1/2 ounces per bushel. Seed of these crops can be safely treated months before it is needed for sowing. It is important, however, to store such treated seed in a cool, dry, well-ventilated place. For best results, wheat seed should be treated at least 24 hours before planting. On the other hand, the seed of oats, barley and flax should be treated at least 7 days before it is sown.

Remember that the organic mercury dusts are poisonous. The precautions given by the manufacturer should be strictly observed. Seed treated with an organic mercury dust should not be used for food purposes, or fed to livestock.

For further information on seed treatment, consult your local Agricultural Representative, or write to Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg.

GERMS CARRIED BY RAW COW'S MILK

Careful experiments have conclusively proved that there is no raw milk free from germs, even when obtained under sterile conditions. There are known to be bacteria in milk when it leaves the udders of healthy cows.

If milk is not kept very cold these bacteria first change its taste and color, then cause the milk to sour or curdle. This process continues in the stomach, causing indigestion, in babies particularly.

In addition to the organism in the milk of healthy cows which causes the fermentation and putrefaction of the nutrients in milk, many cows carry germs in the milk which produce very dangerous diseases in people of all races and ages.

Disease-producing germs in milk have their origin in diseased cows, milkers, milk handlers, carriers or people who have recovered from infectious diseases but still carry the germs in their bodies, and at times from contaminated water used in the dairy for washing utensils.

Milk-borne diseases are bovine tuberculosis, undulant fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, typhoid fever, paratyphoid and dysentery. There are also a number of food poisoners found in raw milk.

Dr. J.R. Fraser, dean of the McGill University medical faculty, states that "possibly infantile paralysis is a milk borne disease."

The communicable diseases mentioned also may be conveyed in the various fresh milk products such as cream, ice cream, cheese, butter and buttermilk.

Proper pasteurization of raw milk destroys disease germs.

CERTIFIED MILK NOT ALWAYS SAFE

Opponents of milk pasteurization are still using the argument that certified milk-high grade milk from inspected herds which is produced under sanitary conditions—is as germ free as pasteurized milk. Animals in certified herds are inspected twice a year for tuberculosis and other diseases.

However, these pasteurized opponents fail to point out that disease can occur in the periods between examinations. They fail to point out that one diseased animal can infect an entire herd, certified or otherwise. For instance, it sometimes has been estimated that one in 200 negative tuberculin tests on cows is false. Therefore if all the approximately 3,900,000 cows in Canada were T.B. tested, this would mean that 19,500 were false negatives—and those 19,500 animals could produce a lot of disease laden milk, and could pass the infection on to thousands of other animals.

Milk, to be absolutely safe for human consumption should come from healthy, clean cows, it must be cleanly handled, and it must be pasteurized.

A "School Teacher" whose class includes hundreds of children in many different parts of Canada is Kay Stevenson, who produces the CBC National School Broadcast, week program planned to be heard in school rooms as a supplement to regular lessons. Hers is the guiding hand behind the current six-part production of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" Fridays at 2:00 p.m. MST, on the CBC Trans-Canada network. Although unknown to most of her listeners, Miss Stevenson is recognized in radio as one of North America's top producers of educational broadcasts.

Pasteurized milk is the only safe milk.

Summer vacationists who are unable to obtain regular supply of the commercially pasteurized product, should pasteurize their own milk.

Are You Free to Choose When, Where, and to Whom You Shall Sell Your Wheat AND AT WHAT PRICE?

The Answer is—NO!

If you are satisfied to sell it to the Wheat Board at a controlled price, about one-half of what you would now get for it on a free and open market, well and good.

But if you want to sell your wheat on a free and open market and get a much higher price than the Wheat Board pays, why should the Government stop you?

Freedom of choice should be yours as to when, where, to whom and at what price you shall sell. Do you have it now?

Why should prairie wheat growers be compelled to pay the whole cost of subsidizing cheap wheat for Britain as well as cheap wheat for home consumption? These subsidies should be paid by the Government, that is by all the people and not loaded on to wheat growers alone.

You are compelled to pay top prices for everything you buy. Why not then demand top prices for your wheat?

We repeat—if some farmers are satisfied with a low price for their wheat, why should they and their lenders stop you from getting high prices for yours?

Do you realize how you are now controlled and regulated by the Canadian Wheat Board Act and its Amendments? If you don't, send at once for the pamphlet which gives you the facts.

Mail the coupon below and DO IT NOW.

True reports on the works of the Red Cross by leading Canadian writers

The case of the 7 strangers

by Claire Wallace

There is a man in Canada who has the blood of seven total strangers in his veins. Maybe you wince at that idea. He doesn't. Without it, he would be dead.

Two years ago he was seriously injured in a crash. He received desperate head injuries, and a delicate operation was imperative. But shock and loss of blood had so weakened him that he couldn't have survived one. If... seven strangers had not stepped in.

They were Canadian men and women who had each given a blood donation to the Canadian Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service. When the doctors called for blood to save the life of the accident victim, it was the blood of those seven which pulled him through.

"Were you one of them?"

Today, he is a healthy, happy, useful citizen of Victoria, British Columbia. The only thing that marks him as different from the average man is a rather searching look that sometimes comes into his eyes as he walks along the street. For he often thinks of the seven who saved his life and wonders who they are. As he looks into a stranger's face, he silently asks: "Were you one of them? If so, I thank you from my heart."

Similarly, the mother who gave birth to twins and would have died except for blood transfusions... the baby so anaemic at birth he could be kept alive only by donated blood... the maimed... the sick... the old—all those who owe their lives to blood transfusions say: "Thanks, unknown friend."

Free blood for Canadian hospitals

The Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service plans, as soon as possible, to extend whole blood and plasma free to all patients needing it, in hospitals across Canada. Already, two provinces—British Columbia and Alberta—provide this life-saving service. Last year, Alberta and British Columbia distributed 21,044 bottles of whole blood and 2,364 bottles of plasma, resulting in the saving of many lives.

But it takes money as well as blood to save these lives. Remember this, as the Canadian Red Cross appeals to you now for funds. Give generously. A life may depend upon your donation.

The work of mercy never ends... Give generously to the CANADIAN RED CROSS

Red Cross Services include: Blood Transfusion, Outpost Hospitals, Aid to Sick and Disabled Veterans, Treatment for Crippled Children, Disaster Relief, Nutrition Services, Home Nursing Courses, Swimming and Water Safety, etc.

What's the Good of UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE?

$87,500,000 was paid from the Unemployment Insurance fund to unemployed Canadians from September 1, 1945, to October 31, 1947.

$31,000,000 was contributed to this fund by the Government of Canada.

500,000 individual unemployed workers and their dependants benefited from these payments.

In many cases had payments not been available the unemployed would have suffered want!

What's the good of Unemployment Insurance?—Can there be any doubt!

Unemployment Insurance helps the employer by providing unemployed with purchasing power; and helps the worker by providing maintenance allowances during unemployment. Employer and Employee and the Government all have an interest—Unemployment Insurance is a large factor in a healthy National Economy.

Town Council Approves Motion Of Lethbridge Experimental Appreciation Station

RANGE PROBLEMS IN THE FOOTHILLS

Deterioration of range through overgrazing in the foothills region follows an interesting pattern. In the first place the native bunch grass and other palatable species give way to less palatable grasses and weeds which are better able to withstand grazing and trampling by cattle. In the southern part of the foothills overgrazing is often indicated by a marked increase in the size of plants of shrubby cinquefoil while further north patches of western snowberry tend to increase greatly in size. In other areas, depending upon the soil type, many other pasture weeds increase with overgrazing with dandelions appearing in the last stages of deterioration. At the present time in our foothills a few fields have already reached this stage and many others are covered by stands of shrubby cinquefoil or western snow-berry. Preliminary experiments have been made to determine the value of 2,4-D in controlling these weeds and these tests will be enlarged and continued during the coming year.

Last summer some fundamental studies were started on shrubby cinquefoil. Examination of root sections showed that many of the plants were from forty to sixty years old. The stems, on the other hand, showed from one to eighteen years growth. This would explain why this particular plant forms a relatively unimportant part of well-managed native range but is capable of increasing very rapidly with overgrazing.

In an effort to more fully answer these and other questions, investigations, are being undertaken in the foothills region. Experiments and projects will be designed to secure information that may be of aid to both ranch management and the various administrative agencies concerned with the area. These will include studies of carrying capacity, determination of suitable forage crops, reseeding of depleted ranges and methods of eradicating range weeds.

At the Council meeting, Monday evening, motion of appreciation was approved concerning the vote of confidence expressed in the last election.

The fact that the old councillors were approved, indicates to a major extent at least that the rate payers of the town approved the policies of the present administration. It will continue to be the program of this administration to give efficient and economical service to the rate payers of the town. The Council feels that the people of the town should be vitally interested in the affairs of the town as they are the ones who pay the bills and they should know that they are getting full value for their money.

For the last two or three years the town mill rate has been reduced to offset the extra requirements of the School requisition in order not to add any more load than was absolutely necessary on the rate payers. The additional three mill sewer tax is for the sewer debentures.

The Town officials always welcome constructive advice and suggestions for the betterment of town conditions. This is one method of determining the wishes of the rate payers. The following projects are in process of completion or are being considered for improvement.

1. The sewer system is expected to be completed this coming season.
2. The filtration plant and new line down Broadway will be completed this year and new water lines for the town are purchased and will be installed as fast as conditions will permit. This is hoped to eliminate leaks and improve the pressure of the system.

3. Sidewalks on both sides of Broadway are on the program for this summer subject to getting the sewer and water connections into the business houses. Other sidewalk programs are under consideration in various parts of the town. The standard plan of the Council with respect to the co-operation of the rate payers is still open and will be handed out on individual blocks.

4. The condition of the roads is more or less static until the water and sewer systems are completed, but as soon as conditions permit, it is the intention to regrade Broadway so that drainage will be continuous from one end of the street to the other and will eliminate all water pockets. With the sewer system in operation, ground water should be reduced and we hope to eliminate considerable alkali out of the town. Other outlying roads will be put in a suitable condition just as fast as finances and other conditions are right. With the new maintainer, it is expected that we can give improved service towards keeping the roads in better condition than in the past.

5. A start was made sometime ago towards improving the sanitary situation and disposal of garbage. Incinerators have been on the program for some time and disposition of this waste material will be taken care of. The dump ground at the West approach of town is going to be cleaned up in the spring and the material disposed of. Plans are underway for a more efficient disposal of this material on the site.

6. The town planning committee has been asked to block off areas in the centre of town to provide more lot space close in. This may involve some "A" streets being installed to the centre of some blocks.

7. The general cleaning up and disposition of waste area in the streets is also in the program.

8. The zoning by-law is in operation and it is designed to improve the housing facilities and raise the standard of town homes. This is beneficial particularly to the school district wherein they are forced to take care of heavy populations of children and move into the city for the winter.

9. In the recreational field, the Town, in co-operation with the Athletic Association, Service Clubs and the schools wishes to encourage wholesome recreation and the parks are available for this purpose. The Town is getting a good start in track, baseball, basketball, hockey skating, swimming and youth training. It is the Town's intention to continue in support of these activities.

10. The Fire Department has been greatly improved with the purchase of the new Fire Engine and scientific fire fighting equipment. The volunteer Fire Department is fully organized and regular practices are held—our department is now one of the best in the South. The Town intends to keep it that way for the protection of the ratepayer's property. The council is anxious to see the town go forward and are agreeable to co-operate on any project which might improve the general conditions keeping in mind always that taxes are at their maximum and town expenditures must be kept to a point where people can live in the town without paying a prohibitive rate.

All this program can be helped by full co-operation of citizens with respect to their own individual property and street. Co-operation in looking after their immediate vicinity will improve considerably the whole situation. Waste materials, rubbish, etc. can be hauled away but it requires continuous effort on the part of the home owners and business houses to see that litter is not common in their vicinity. This town can be made one of the better towns of the south with everyone working to that end.

Respectfully Submitted,
The Council.

PRICES PROBE

There is no doubt that the masses across this nation will be keenly interested to learn about the happenings at the special committee of the House of Commons Hearing on prices but it must be emphasized at this time that officials are anxious to avoid any misconceptions about the developments currently taking place at these hearings, with one of the most important witnesses' evidence here being of a kind which must be clearly and completely understood to avoid such misconceptions. This is the evidence provided by F. A. McGregor, Commissioner of the Combines Investigations Act, which aims to safeguard Canadian consumers against unjustified price increases.

"Now it should not be taken that because we have made certain inquiries into those fields, therefore there must be something wrong", said Mr. McGregor at this prices probe. "We are trying to find out whether there is something wrong. If as we carry on with a case, we find that there is no evidence sufficient to justify going further, we drop it."

Mr. McGregor told the committee that, in answer to questions about possible hoarding, profiteering or price fixing within the past several months he did not have any complaints or evidence of any kind of

"Does that apply to eastern as well as western Canada? he was asked, and the answer was a definite yes. Likewise, he answered in the affirmative when questioned about rolled oats, coffee, footwear, medicine, gasoline, tires, radio tubes, and sets. He made one qualification under men's wear, stating that "there are certain types of men's wear in which we are interested."

This is extremely important, observers along Parliament Hill hold, since it is no secret that existing businesses or those in contemplation may think that they can take temporary advantage of the import bans or restrictions put on by the Canadian Government solely with the objective of gaining benefits from Canada's present unfortunate and serious U.S. dollar shortage. Apparently, they would be ill-advised to do so since there is an obvious intention on the part of the authorities in this capital to lift these bans or restrictions just as soon as the dollar position will warrant.

The latest forecast heard in this capital is that the fourth session of the 20th Parliament may not conclude before Dominion Day or at least not much prior to that date, judging from the heavy program facing the legislators and the rate of progress made up to this time. Some extremely important legislation is yet to be considered and the agenda is heavy. However it has been noted in the past that when the payments on the sessional indemnity run out, proceedings start to speed up and the indemnity monthly payments will run out the full sessional amount of $4,000 approximately toward the end of June.
